

Camping measures taken
by La Noguera Resort S.L.
against COVID-19

General Information

What is the new coronavirus? SARS-CoV-2 is a new type of zoonotic coronavirus that affects humans and produces COVID-19, a respiratory disease.

How is it transmitted? It is transmitted through direct contact with the drops expelled when coughing or sneezing by an affected person.

Can COVID-19 be transmitted through food? Can COVID-19 be transmitted through food? According to the WHO, it is highly unlikely that COVID-19 is transmitted through food or food product packaging, as the coronavirus cannot replicate in these products. An animal or human individual is required to do so.

What are the most common symptoms?

Fever

Cough

Feeling short of breath

In some cases it can also reduce the sense of smell and taste, sore throat, headache, general weakness, diarrhea or vomiting.

What can I do to protect myself from the new coronavirus?

A photograph of a family of three sitting on a wooden porch in front of a house with large windows. The father is on the left, the mother is in the middle, and a young child is on the right. They are all looking towards the camera. The house has light-colored siding and dark wood trim. The porch has a wooden railing. The ground is green grass.

Wash your hands frequently and meticulously, when coughing or sneezing, cover your mouth and nose with your elbow flexed, regularly clean the surfaces that you touch the most, keep the safety distance of 2 meters, use hygienic mask, use single-use tissues.

What should I do if I have symptoms? If you have symptoms, stay home to avoid infecting workers and other customers of the campsite. Tell your referral health care provider.

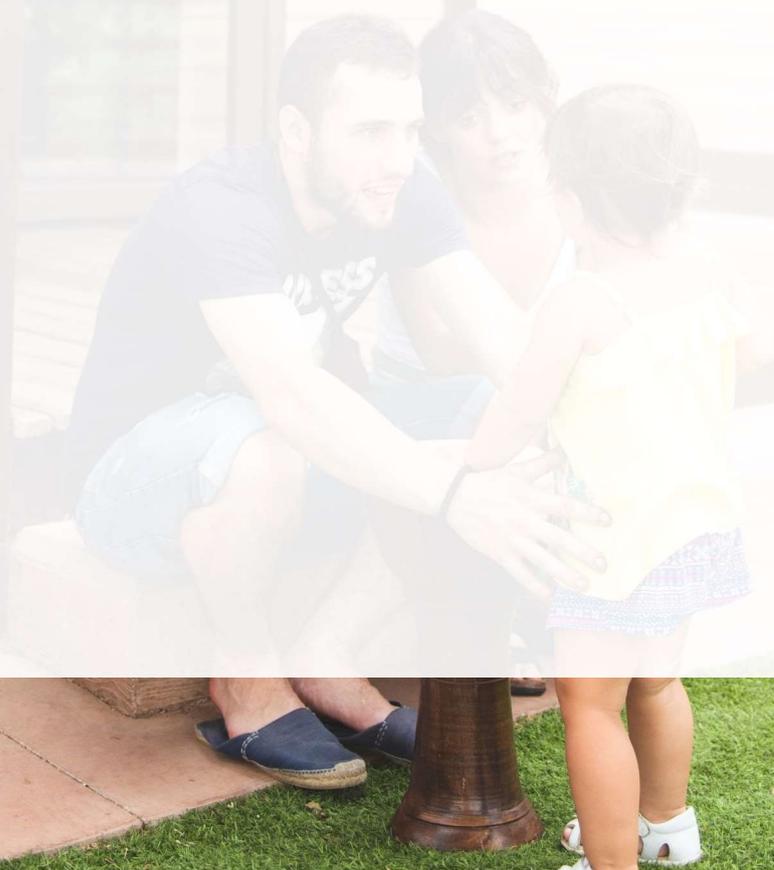

What should I do if I have symptoms and am in the camping facilities? In the slightest doubt that you suffer symptoms compatible with the COVID-10 disease, communicate this situation to the staff of the establishment.
